

Financial Strategies for the Special Needs Family Educational Workshop

If you care for a person with a disability or other special needs, it's important that you look beyond their medical care attention and the help you provide on a day-to-day basis. How you prepare for their financial well-being will make a tremendous difference in your lifestyle now and when you are no longer caring for your loved one.

Join us as we discuss some of the many options that may be available to you as you create your financial strategy.
